

Boff, Kellogg Nominated As New Class Presidents

By ED BOZYMSKI

Bernie Boff and Willie Kellogg won class elections and seats on the Student Council in balloting last week. Both are members of the basketball squad.

Boff, of Defiance, Ohio, defeated Ed Linskey for the senior presidency of 1953-54, in a 20-18 vote last Wednesday. Keith Forton won the vice-presidential post over Don Klingenberg and John Englehart. Named treasurer of the class was Bill Zimmer; secretary is Vince Agnew.

Kellogg, who hails from Chicago, edged out John Donnelly in the presidential campaign, 55-54, on the second ballot cast May 8-11 by next year's juniors. Donnelly was elected vice-president. The other officers include Joe Giuffre, treasurer, and Sam Governale, secretary.

Freshmen will ballot for their 1953-54 officers today and tomorrow.

John Thorpe and Bernie Boff became the first club presidents, to be chosen for the 1953-54 school year the past two weeks.

Thorpe was named president of the Chicago Club. Fellow officers include Fred Handler and Ed Linskey.

Handling next year's Commerce Club chores will be Boff. To aid him will be Bill Kun, vice-president; John Englehart, treasurer; and Jim Hoyng, secretary.

The Commerce Club will also award nine keys as well as the Father Gordon Memorial Award at their banquet in the very near future. While the award-winner is still being kept secret, key-winners were announced as Ted Beemsterboer, John Englehart, Don Klingenberg, Phil Menna, Elmer Molchan, John O'Hara, Charles Tait, Tom Van Acker, and Allen Kanne. The latter is a Rensselaer restaurateur, chosen honorary member of the club this year.

Father Fehrenbacher Honored On Silver Anniversary Today

Seniors Near Baccalaureate, Alumni Ranks

Baccalaureate exercises for the graduating class of 1953 will be held Sunday, June 7, on St. Joseph's campus. His Eminence, Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago, will preside at the ceremony in which 62 St. Joe seniors will receive their degrees.

Preceding the graduation exercises, the annual Alumni Banquet will be held Saturday evening, in the cafeteria. The main function of the banquet is to initiate the graduating seniors into the Alumni Association.

An academic procession to the college chapel at 10:15 a. m. Sunday morning will begin the graduation program. Following the procession, a Solemn High Mass will be offered at 10:30 a. m.

The final ceremony of the graduation exercises will be the conferring of the degrees by Cardinal Stritch, to be held in the college auditorium at 2:00 p. m.

History Prof Celebrates 25th Year of Ordination

Rev. Frederick L. Fehrenbacher

The Rev. Frederick L. Fehrenbacher, chairman of the Department of Social Science and professor of history at St. Joseph's, is guest of honor today at a special commemoration of the silver jubilee of his ordination.

The occasion, marking the 25th anniversary of his becoming a priest on May 20, 1928, has drawn a total of approximately 225 priests, relatives and friends to the campus this afternoon.

The celebration began at 10:30 this morning, when Bishop John G. Bennett of Lafayette sang a Pontifical High Mass in the college chapel. Assisting him were the Rev. Henry J. Martin, deacon, and the Rev. John Lewis of Minneapolis, subdeacon. Both priests are first cousins of Father Fehrenbacher. Father Sego, Bishop Bennett's secretary, was master of ceremonies, while the Rev. Alexis Schuette delivered the sermon.

After Mass, refreshments were served in the faculty recreation hall; the banquet began at 1:00 p. m. Bishop Bennett was the main speaker at the banquet; the Rev. Joseph A. Hiller served as toastmaster. A purse, collected by friends of Father Fehrenbacher, was presented to the jubilarian. The college Glee Club supplied the entertainment for the occasion.

Father Fehrenbacher has spent his entire priestly career here at St. Joseph's. It was his one and only appointment, back in 1928. Prior to this, as a student, Father Fehrenbacher had been an outstanding athlete and had participated in every major sport.

College to Award Cardinal, Bishop Honorary Degrees

St. Joseph's College will confer honorary Doctor of Law, LL.D., degrees on Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Archbishop of Chicago, and the Most Rev. Leo A. Pursley, Auxiliary Bishop of Fort Wayne, at the coming commencement exercises.

Cardinal Stritch will be the principal speaker of the day.

Bishop Pursley, '21, is a past President of the St. Joseph's Alumni Association and the contributor of the Mary J. Pursley Award, a $50 contribution given annually for the best piece of creative writing. This award is in honor of Bishop Pursley's sister.

Picnic Season Begins With Monogram Club

By BOB MICHALSKI

Leading the season's picnic parade this year was the Monogram Club, which held its annual outing April 23 at the home of Coach Richard Scharf. The Commerce Club followed closely with its picnic April 26 at Roth Park. (Turn to Page Four)

160 Couples Take Part in Prom; Majority Attend Raleigh 'Revels'

Some 160 couples took part in the season's social high spot, May 9, when they crowded the fieldhouse for the annual Junior Prom.

With music by Dick Carlton's orchestra and a "Serenade in Blue" theme, the Promgoers danced under a spotlighted ceiling of blue bulbs. The bandshell also was covered in blue, as were the decorations.

Dancing was held on the intramural courts with the main court being reserved for dinner tables. A crew of five waiters was kept busy moving from table to table, filling orders.

Hosts and hostesses for the event were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scharf and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kelly. Many of the faculty were in attendance. As guests of honor, the juniors had the Hon. Charles A. Halleck, Judge Moses Leopold, and Mayor Emil Hanley, all of Rensselaer.

After the Prom, Raleigh Hall was open for a supper party,

"Midnight Revels," with music by Willie Jones and his combo.

Now, 'tis Prom-night, and "reveling" in the rec hall are St. Joe men Chef Walong, Owen Weitzel, Bill Fergus, Ray Schwenkel, Jim Thureson, Boyd Reutebuch, and George Smolar.

TWO-WAY SOLUTION

The Prom is over and now the retrospect analysts have the floor in evaluating its worth as compared with Proms of previous years.

One thing, though, was virtually a unanimous favorite with the Promgoers. This was the Midnight Revels, a supper-clubbish sort of party in Raleigh Hall after the main dance was over. It was something new this year; its innovators were a bit leery about its being accepted by the St. Joe student. But it proved to be, according to many, more fun than the Prom itself.

It benefits the Promgoer in that it provides a handy, economical interregnum between the close of the fieldhouse dancing and the retiring hour. Entertainment and refreshments are provided at prices lower than could be obtained by traveling to neighboring country clubs some 30 miles and back in the middle of the night. It's a good place to let off steam and relax after the more formal Prom.

And it eases the minds of the Dean of Men and those of the administration who, after all, do have some responsibility for the safety of those attending the Prom. For the elimination of traveling to the country clubs means that the possibility for serious accidents has been cut down.

The after-Prom idea is handier, safer, and more economical. We're for establishing the practice as a tradition.

FROM THE STUDENTS

A favorite prof reaches a milestone in his career today: the Rev. Frederick Fehrenbacher celebrates the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood.

Since beyond the memory of any present St. Joe student, the distinguished-looking, white-haired history prof has won the admiration of many a pupil for some of the most interesting and intriguing class sessions in the entire curriculum. And this is a mighty tribute indeed.

An ardent sports fan, Father Fehrenbacher probably teams up with Brother Dave to form the most consistent rooting section the Pumas have ever had or hope to realize. He is the athlete's favorite, as he is everyone's. His recent illness caused some worry and consternation among the ranks, but now that Father seems well over his sicknesses, every hope is offered for his continuous good health.

And may he take this editorial as a card of congratulations from the student body of St. Joseph's, with every wish from them for another 25 happy priestly years.

TRACK CAN BE BEAUTIFUL

It says in the information bulletin that St. Joseph's has a varsity track team. Publicity releases would have the outsider believe that track is a serious subject with St. Joe sport fans. Yet it is not unusual to overhear the following conversation concerning the fortunes of our cinder squad:

Pat: I hear our track team went to Valpo today.

Mike: Yes. I hope he does well.

St. Joe at present is enjoying a magnificent sports year, if we neglect football—and we shall. The basketball and baseball teams are carving records all over the place. We have capable squads in those sports; we could have capable track teams, too, if we wanted.

All that is needed is that little spark . . . those extra 120 men out for the team . . . that adequate equipment . . . that keen interest that always follows a winning team. Perhaps the last two items are a little out of reach now, for one reason or another. But the 120 candidates are not as absurd as they sound.

There are and have been at St. Joe, one-time high school track stars who never go out because no interest is shown in track, even by those higher-ups who should be the most enthusiastic. But if it is possible, why not utilize these latent abilities? If we must have a track team, let's make it one we can be proud of.

Definite efforts to bring out this hidden talent were made by the inauguration of the intramural track meet last week. An even better solution might be to make track a necessary part of the obligatory freshman physical education course. That would seem the best method to get the most of what we have, for every student's abilities would be manifested at least once; and the cream could be skimmed off for the varsity, combining these with the returning veterans each year.

St. Joe finished fourth in the ICC meet with only four or five participants; how would we do with a complete team?

Xavier Hall Holds Parents' Day

Despite the unexpected down-pour on both Saturday and Sunday, Parents' Day ended on a bright note. The program, though somewhat altered by the weather conditions, was carried out to make the day memorable. More than 150 guests spent the weekend, getting a clear insight into the life of the seminarian. Xavier Hall, usually enjoying the privilege of the cloister, swung open its doors to permit the visitors a view of the home of the seminarians for the two years that they spend on campus.

The individual clubs of the Dwenger Mission Unit (CSMC) prepared displays of their particular phase of mission work. The members of the clubs showed by means of posters, bulletins, and the like what has been accomplished in the last year as balanced with that done in the past years.

Saturday evening the College Band and College Concert Chorus entertained the visitors in the auditorium with an hour-and-a-half concert. The Band played "Old Comrades March," "Poet and Peasant Overture," "Trumpeter's Lullaby," "Malaguena," "Hall of Fame March," "Finale from the New World Symphony," "Red Mill Overture," and "Rumbalita." The Concert Chorus sang "The Halls of Ivy," "Song of the Toreador," "You'll Never Walk Alone," "Stodola Pumpa," "Dry Bones," "Were You There?" and "Terra Tremuit."

Sunday morning the Seminarian Choir gave a brief Sacred Concert in the College Chapel. The selections sung were: "O Heart of Mary," "Tu Es Petrus," "Ave Maria," "Sub Tuum Praesidium," "Improprium," "Tenebrae Factae Sunt," "Ave Verum," and Neland's "Magnificat."

The fathers walked away with the victory over their sons in the annual Parents' Day "Father and Son Softball Game." The game, called off because of rain in the last of the fifth ended with a score of 11-10. Mr. Flaherty and Mr. Falter alternated pitching for the fathers, while Leon Flaherty went all the way for the sons.

On Sunday evening, the parents were entertained by an informal program. Ed Andary, master of ceremonies for the evening, kept the ball rolling. John Conway and Jim Luley did a pantomime to a record of Jimmy Durante and Helen Trauble. Father Kuhns filled in with some tenor solos, while Virgil Gelormino showed the party what the "Italians" think of America. The Freshman Quartet added a bit of spice with some well rendered Barber Shoppe Melodies. Fathers Cera and Kuhns rendered a "classical" interpretation of "Chop Sticks," and to top it all, John Jakubiak, in tux and derby, gave a bit of high-stiffed basso soloing.

Father Siegrist Gives Paper

On May 1, the Rev. Urban J. Siegrist, associate professor of Biology here, attended the American Bacteriologists' (Indiana Branch) Meeting and presented a paper: "The Laboratory Effects of Subtropical Plant Extracts Upon Some Human and Veterinary Pathogens."

This paper contained data on some 1000 experiments performed over the last three years, by Father Siegrist, director of the Institutum Divi Thomae Research Station at St. Joseph's.

SHAVINGS

By ED BYRNE

SIXTY CLEVELAND COMMUNISTS were hopping mad after their May Day meeting was picketed by several hundred singing, jeering teen-age boys from Cathedral Latin School and John Adams, Benedictine, and Euclid High schools. When questioned by the police, the pickets explained that they couldn't see the difference between Communists plotting against America in Cleveland and Communists who will be shooting at them after they are drafted into the army. As a student from Cathedral Latin expressed it, " . . . Most of the fellows on this picket line will be sent to Korea or some other place to fight the Communists."

"We think the country is letting us down when we are sent away to fight while inside that hall (a Hungarian Workers' meeting-house) the same kind of Communists are allowed to plot sabotage and treason. Maybe what they are permitted to do here will some day cause me or one of my buddies to be killed. Nuts, we're going to fight them in a year or so, why wait? If the government won't stop them, then we must. We have the most to lose—maybe our lives."

Then we read somewhere else that a new bill is being proposed which will make things more difficult for American Communists.

Seven Catholic women's colleges are named, among them Barat College in Lake Forest, Ill., and St. Mary's College of Notre Dame, Ind.

PUMA PROFILES BY RON FAVORITE

The Grapevine

By JOHN WOLFE

IT WAS STATED in this column earlier in the year, that if Coach Beane's pitching came through this year, the Pumas would be tough. Well, it certainly has come through, and the record of 10-3 shows it. The pitching hasn't been on the sensational side, but it has been tough when it needed to be. The St. Joe hitting power has given its support to the average of 10 runs per game, certainly enough to win the greater share of games. A good deal of credit must go to Coach Beane's big three starters: Joe Pindell, Ted Ashburner, and Dick Dwinell. The biggest and most pleasant surprise has been Dwinell. The big freshman from Chicago's Loyola Academy gave Pindell and Ashburner the backing they needed and has pitched good ball against the best-hitting teams in the ICC. It took a lot of guts to stay in there after the first three men in the Valpo game here had hit safely and produced three runs. They scored so quickly that Jim Beane barely had time to get Joe Pindell throwing in the bullpen; and that is really scoring in a hurry.

AS FOR THE HITTING, there isn't much one can say when Meyer, Wasni, Garvey, Normandt and Smolar come through, game after game, getting hits when they count the most, and all the time posing a long-ball threat. Don Merki and Don Gorman have done a fine job with a young pitching staff while Willie Kellogg has come forth and landed a permanent job at short. Bill Schulte's taking over third leaves the Pumas with a young but experienced infield that has shown signs of brilliance on occasions and should be great next season.

ELEVEN MEMBERS of the winning 12" softball team, the Clovers, will make the trip to Turkey Run State Park Sunday to defend the softball trophy they won last year. The members are: Bill Kun (Capt.), Fred Hollinden, Bill Heniff, Ron Hospodka, Gene Ziemba, Bill Elbert, Bill LaBadie, Gus Pasquini, Ed Linskey, Frank Schroeder and either George Herr or Richard Lewczynski. In addition, a singles and doubles team in horseshoes will make the trip.

TOM PAONESSA, quarterback of last year's Puma eleven, will get a try-out with the Chicago Bears when the pro team returns to Collegeville, early next fall.

St. Joe Humbles Crusaders to Split Two-Game Match

St. Joe and Valparaiso split their baseball games 50-50 this year, with the Pumas copping a 12-5 decision on their home grounds, while Valpo won 10-5 in their home park.

Playing their fourth game in three days on May 4, the Pumas were not quite up to Valpo's power as they suffered their third conference defeat. St. Joe got off to a poor start as Pete Schummer was greeted by a barrage of base hits in the very first frame and had to be relieved by Ted Ashburner before he could get anyone out. Ted retired the side but the Crusaders had notched three runs. The Pumas came back to knot the count in the third on singles by George Smolar and Ralph Meyer and a tremendous home run over the left field fence by Bob Wasni. But Valpo again scored three in their half of the third on five straight hits and an outfield error.

St. Joe narrowed the margin to one run in the fourth when three singles by Ashburner, Smolar and Meyer and an infield out put the score at 6-5. Valpo then came back with three more in the bottom of the fourth to wrap the contest up.

The six errors committed by the Pumas contributed to their downfall. Ralph Meyer led the St. Joe attack with three singles while George Smolar added two more, scoring each time.

St. Joe —003 200 000— 5-10-6
Valpo —303 310 00x—10-12-2

In the second game, this time at St. Joe on May 12, Dick Dwinell settled down after a shaky start to throttle the hard-hitting Crusaders on eight hits as his teammates piled up 12 runs to give him a 12-5 win. Valpo's first two batters singled and then third baseman Con Auman poled a long home run to left-center field to clear the bases, but after that, Dwinell was in charge.

The Pumas came back with two in the first on Smolar's single, a walk to Meyer and Bob Wasni's single. Meyer then scored on a wild pitch. Two more came in the second on Merki's single and Bill Schulte's double to right-center. Schulte eventually scored on an error by the catcher. Two more again scored in the third, this time on four walks, a wild pitch and a stolen base.

In the fifth inning, Wasni walked, advanced to second on Maurie Garvey's hit, went to third on a balk, and scored on a wild pitch. Merki's bunt squeezed Garvey home with the eighth Puma run. In the sixth Smolar walked, stole second, advanced to third on an out, and scored on Kellogg's infield hit.

Three runs in the eighth finished the scoring as Schulte, Smolar and Meyer tallied on a combination of walks, errors, and a balk.

Pumas Finish Successful Year

Indiana State Bites Dust in

12-8 Puma Win

St. Joe collected 18 hits and 12 runs in a Prom Day tilt with the Indiana State Sycamores, and copped a 12-8 decision.

Joe Pindell gave up only five hits in seven-and-one-third innings, but wildness and erratic fielding put him in hot water in the eighth. Coach Jim Beane then called in reliever Ted Ashburner, who, after walking the first batter, retired five in a row to end the game.

As usual, it was the Puma hitters who carried the brunt of the attack. Bob Wasni, George Smolar, Maurie Garvey, Willie Kellogg, Ralph Meyer, and Pindell combined stick efforts to give St. Joe a 9-1 lead by the seventh.

"Whale" Wasni clouted two round-trippers and a single. Smolar, Meyer, Garvey, and Pindell each collected three singles and, in two trips, Kellogg pounded out a triple and a single.

Top Hurlers Go Against Wabash

It will be up to Joe Pindell and Dick Dwinell to put an end to the greatest season a St. Joe baseball nine has ever had when this Saturday they seek the Pumas' 12th and 13th wins over a much-improved Wabash team that has played excellent ball all year.

Pindell and Dwinell have won more games together this year than all the pitchers of the previous six seasons put together. This will be the final game for three seniors: Pindell, catcher Don Gorman and reserve pitcher John Wolfe.

Last year the Pumas battled the Cavemen to an 8-8 tie that was halted in the tenth inning by darkness.

Golfers Close Season At Little State Meet

Hanover College won the Little State College golf title, and Valparaiso University won the Indiana Collegiate Conference crown in play held last Friday at the Beechwood Golf Course in LaPorte, Ind. St. Joe landed tenth place in the Little State meet and last in ICC competition. St. Joe scores were: Effing 87-87-174; Powell 91-86-177; Lillig 92-83-175 and Lynn 89-100-189 for a team total of 715. Valpo's winning score was 642 while Hanover's was 618.

Five of the Puma mound staff look fierce for the cameraman as they adopt characteristic poses. Shown are Jim Couture, Ted Ashburner, Jim Progar, Pete Schummer, and Joe Pindell. Missing are twirlers Dick Dwinell, John Wolfe, and Joe Gerba.

Looks like a clean hit for center-fielder Maurie Garvey, but the catcher's glove, holding that baseball snugly gives the clue that Mr. Garvey has missed his connection in this Lewis contest. He did not miss entirely, though, as he connected for a homer early in the game to pace the Pumas to a 6-5 win.

54-Year-Old Barn Falls Prey To Advances of New Building

A 54-year-old St. Joe landmark will be torn down this summer. The old dairy barn, in service since 1899, will fall prey to the advances of modern times and will be replaced by a newer and larger structure, now being completed by campus personnel.

The old barn, located approximately one-half mile west of the main campus, has been a part of St. Joseph's farm system since construction first began before the turn of the century. Back in 1899, the original builders felled oak trees by hand from "Bishop's Woods," now part of the West Farm. The logs were completely hand-hewn and shaped into beams 14'x14'.

In 1900, the dirt was excavated and the stone floor laid; the barn, originally roofed entirely with slate, was completed in 1901.

Several St. Joe pioneers had a hand in the construction. The Rev. Augustine Seifert, first president of the college, for whom Seifert Hall was named, designed the structure; Brother William Zink was the chief construction engineer. After its completion, the barn became known as "Brother Bill's Big Bank Barn," for it was then the largest bank barn in the state. It is 80' wide, 220' long and 65' high.

Construction is now underway on the new barn, and it should be completed by August.

Going up is the new dairy barn, on the west side of the campus. It will be completed this summer and will replace the old edifice, in use since 1901.

English Profs Attend Meeting

The Rev. Alvin Druhman and Mr. W. Stephen Sanderlin represented St. Joseph's at the annual meeting of the Indiana College English Association, held at DePauw University May 8 and 9.

The unifying theme of the conference was Shakespeare. Guest speakers included Drs. Fergusson and Wright, two experts on the subject. Dr. Wright is custodian of the Folger Library, Washington, D. C., the second-largest Shakespearean library in the world.

Sound chambers for the new electric organ are now being installed in the College Theater, and the organ will be ready in time for graduation this year, the Rev. Richard P. Baird has announced. Father Baird is the moderator of the St. Joseph's Fathers Club, whose members are contributing the organ.

1898 Park Grows Into Grotto Grove Of Present Day

By BILL FEELY

A statue of the Blessed Virgin standing upon a protruding rock overgrown with foliage. Across a little stream, another statue—the frightened shepherd girl, Bernadette. These in a park with a huge lawn and a multiplicity of flower beds. The grotto grove . . . in 1898, some 55 years ago.

In that year and during the same May weather we are now experiencing, two students, later to become Fathers Bernard Ersing and Sylvester Hartman, were walking in the woods to the south of the campus with Brother Victor Zuber, when the idea of a shrine struck them. A wooden frame was made in the old carpenter shop (just west of Dwenger Hall, on the spot presently occupied by the cars of campus motormen Don Merki and John Hentschel); arched walls of unhewn rock were built around it; and it was placed in the middle of the park with the big lawn and the multiplicity of flower beds, besides the little stream in May of 1898.

Father Ersing was the architect and constructor of that first grotto, while Father Hartman took care of the grove itself, supplying fresh flowers and maintaining the votive lamps.

Thirty-three years afterwards—in 1931—the Rev. Alvin Scheidler, using this shrine as a nucleus, through the donation of the Rev. Ignatius Rauh, built the more imposing structure which stands today. On Nov. 15, 1932, Father Ersing himself dedicated it to Mary.

Twelve hundred tons of material were used—100 yards of crushed stone, 30 yards of cement, 108 yards of sand, 170 yards of soil. The grotto is 22 feet high and 153 feet wide. Two lagoons, upon which float water lilies and wild rice, were constructed at the feet of the Virgin.

The center of the structure was hollowed out and a Gethsemani-in-miniature created, the main feature of which is Hoffman's "Christ," a special four-foot white Carrara marble statue imported from Italy. The low vaulted 22-by-30-foot room bears a striking resemblance to the ancient catacombs.

in the recent club elections. We will attempt to do our best in continuing the work done this year by Bill Gausselin, Don Gorman, and Tom Paonessa.

Under the guidance of Father Maziarz, we hope to make the club one of the finest on the campus.

Glee Club Blends Voices In Joliet Joint Concert

By BOB BRANDT

Presenting a joint concert similar to the April 19 Spring Music Festival here, the St. Joe Glee Club and that of the College of St. Francis blended voices in the Joliet homeland of the girls last Sunday.

This was the second of three concerts scheduled within a week. Saturday the club had an engagement for the Xavier Hall Parents' Day program and today they presented a program at Father Fehrenbacher's Silver Jubilee banquet.

Also on the agenda for the singers is the making of professional recordings for either the National Broadcasting Company or the Columbia Broadcasting System. The date for these has not as yet been set.

The club's director, the Rev. Lawrence F. Heiman, is still receiving complimentary notes from locales visited by the club within recent weeks. The Rev. Frank Seimetz of Bishop Noll High School asked that "you will put us on your schedule permanently." Mr. George Burman, principal of Whiting High School remarked of a concert, "It was splendid and there were a great many favorable comments from both students and faculty members." Both schools were visited April 14.

About an April 16 concert at Pulaski, Ind., the Rev. Cyril Ernst, pastor of St. Joseph's parish there, commented, "To me it was one of the biggest things this town ever had. I personally think the boys sang better than last year."

Shown above, right, with the Rev. Walter T. Pax, Dean of the College, is the Most Rev. Giuseppe Burzio, S.T.D., Papal Nuncio to Cuba. He is one of the highest church dignitaries ever to visit the St. Joe campus, and was here May 8 and 9. Bishop Burzio, who celebrated Mass Sunday, May 9, in the college chapel, has served for more than 20 years in the Vatican diplomatic corps.
